

We regret to have to announce the death of the above-named estimable lady, wife of Dr Lynch, J P, which took place at Queenstown on the 14th inst. When the sad news reached Ballyvourney, where Mrs Lynch was universally esteemed, there was only one feeling entertained amongst all classes without exception, and that was a feeling of genuine sorrow for the deceased and of the deepest sympathy for her husband and friends. On Saturday the remains were interred at Ballyvourney. The funeral was very largely attended, and showed in a marked manner the esteem and regard in which the deceased lady was held, and testified also how immensely popular her respected husband is. The funeral cortege started from the Macroom station at 3 o'clock, and amongst those present we noticed—Messrs H B Mearns, J P, manager Munster and Leinster Bank; Chas Roycroft, J P; John P Howard, J P; Cors. Kelleher, J P; T Crowley, M D; J Kelleher, M D; P Gould, M D; D M'Carthy, P L G; Michael Healy, P L G; P Quill, P L G; Timothy Murphy, P L G; John T Murphy, clerk of the Union; Michael Purcell, solicitor; J J Foley, solicitor; M J Quinn, J Granger, Clerk of Petty Sessions; S W Baldwin, R C Williams, Dan Lynch, P L G; Wm Ahern, Cork, &c. Amongst the clergymen present were—Rev J Moore, C C, Macroom; Rev E D O'Connell, C C, Macroom; Rev M Lane, C C, do; Rev D M'Auliffe, P P, Clondrohid; Rev Father Greene, C C, do; Rev P Hennessy, P P, Ballyvourney; Rev Father Shinnick, C C, do.
